Lord and Joe Hardy, members of the Bureau five, proved the next best pair from the Capital City, getting a count of 1,118, close on the heels of the four Chamber pin artists. Park, The pins broke hard for Hamner and Rodrick, and sixteen splits brought their total down to 1,027.

C. F. Myers showed up well in his doubles, getting a count of 568, but his partner, F. A. Chadwick, was off his stride, and the best he sould do was 439. Barney Dreyfuss Tells Why He which brought their total down to 1,007. Knox is the only Washingtonian yet to roll, and will line up with a Chicago pin artist in the doubles the latter part of George Land, a member of the Bureau five, proved the best from Washington in the individual event, getting 596 pins, which will land him in the money Frank Milovich came in for second honors from Washington with 563 pins to finished with a total of 557.

New York, March 8.—Harvard granuates living in this city and vicinity have become aroused by the report that the Crimson undergraduates want to have the deciding baseball game with Yale (in case of a tie) played either in Boston or Springfield, Mass. As in former years the rival universities meet on the diamonds in Cambridge and New Haven, but for ome old reason Harvard this year is heres to the old plan. New Haven undergraduates and alumni are opposed to Boston as a final battle ground because it is regarded as partisan territory, while Springfield, where Yale and Harvard used to play the annual football game is said to have no accommodations for a

SQUAD HITS A RAPID PACE the

Manager McAleer Keeps His Charges Hard at It Down in Norfolk. George Browne and Miller Report. Unglaub and Gessler Expected Today-Players Feel Effects of Work.

Special to The Washington Herald,

Norfolk, Va., March 8 .- The Nationals kept sight at it to-day, the second day's work of their spring practice being equally as satisfactory as the first. They are surely making hay while the sun shines. While the temperature was lower than it was yesterday, the sun shone brilliantly, and it was none too cool for good work.

Some of the men were a little stiff from the work of yesterday, but every member of the squad was out for morning practice shortly before 10 o'clock. They got in action at once. In their batting practice the ball was walloped hard, and in fielding they showed up faster than Street Astonishes Natives. The way that Charlie Street let himself out in practice to-day astonished many training experts. The great catcher could scarcely have developed more speed in midseason than he did at times in practice. It was thought by some that he was taking chances on injuring him-

Additions to the squad to-day were Outfielders Browne and Miller. Browne got in from New York, where he had gone from Hot Springs on account of the illness of his wife.

Hot Springs seems to have done Browne a lot of good. Both Browne and Miller got in the practice. Miller did not seem to be in good condition

Others expected to be on the field tomorrow are Unglaub and Gessler. Mc-Aleer looked for them to-day, but they probably missed a train somewhere. All the men who are to report to the manager here are expected to be in by the latter part of the week. CREWS ARE ON RIVER Jacksonville.

Candidates for Racing Boats Have Work-out.

GEORGETOWN SHELLS MANNED

Iwo Crews of 'Varsity Candidates and Two of the Preps-Mixes Experienced and Inexperienced Men in All the Boats-"Weeding Out" Process to Come Later,

With traces of awkwardness showing through their work, due to inexperience on the part of some, and in others due to the fact that this is the first work-out of the season, the four Georgetown crews are to be seen in the afternoon tearing up and down the Potomac River, way up west of the college grounds. Under the able instruction of Coach Pat Dempsey, the Blue and Gray university should turn out both a 'varsity and prep team that will be dangerous to opponents in any race they may enter. Early in the afternoon yesterday the first 'varsity shell put out from the landing of the floating boathouse, with Coxswain Kelly shouting instruction to his charges. New Men in All the Boats,

It is the plan of the coach to mix up the experienced and inexperienced men in both the 'varsity and the prep shells, and this will be done until it comes time to pick out a permanent team to enter in the races. Yesterday the first shell contained Capt. Murray, of last year's 'varsity: McQuail, who rowed in Philadelphia with the crew last year; Cunniff. and Joliet, who also represented the university in Philadelphia last year. Langdon, Graham, Crosby, and Carroll, all men with little experience on the water, completed the crew that started out first, and Coach Dempsey remained behind to start off the second shell with Stohlman. Franklin, and Dailey, all men who rowed in Philadelphia last year; Powers, who is regular 'varsity man, and McCormick, Carr, Fitzgerald, and Needham, new men, in their places, and with Kingsley as coxswain, the shell was shoved off the landing, to be followed immediately by Dempsey in his single. Go Way Up River. The crews disappeared up the bend beyond the "Three Sisters" rocks, and preparations were made for starting the Prep eights after them, to get the instruction of the coach after the 'varsity had received their lesson for the afternoon in the art of rowing a racing shell. Capt. Brady, of the Prep crew, gave his men a few preliminary instructions before starting yesterday afternoon, making the first day on the water for many of them, as the men began their first outside work only Sunday. Kelly is coxswain of the Prep crew. Little opportunity has been afforded to get a line on the respective merits of the different men as yet, but Pat will soon San Francisco, Cal., March &-Tex begin the "weeding out" process and narrow the crews down to two eights, fries-Johnson fight next Fourth of July with a few substitutes, who will be put at the training table.
